Partner

Claire Collins is a Partner at Hanson Bridgett. She has experience representing public entities, private companies, and individuals in a range of real estate, land use, and environmental matters in urban, suburban, and rural contexts.

Her practice includes transactional law, compliance counseling, and litigation. She regularly handles the following types of matters:

- Public agency general counseling
- Contract negotiation, drafting, and review
- Real property sales, acquisitions, and leasing
- Boundary disputes
- Easement and "Right of Way" negotiation and interpretation
- California Environmental Quality Act compliance and litigation
- Land use/zoning matters including land use entitlements
- Eminent domain and inverse condemnation
- Clean Water Act and Porter-Cologne Water Quality Control Act litigation and compliance
- Water, solid waste, wastewater, recycling, and recycled water contracts, ordinances, laws, and regulations
- Railroad-related matters
- Open government law, including the Public Records Act and the Brown Act
- California Government Claims Act
- Public finance issues, including Prop. 218 compliance, State Revolving Fund loans, and bond issuances
- Local agency formation commission matters

Prior to attending law school, she was a communications specialist working in the political and public sectors, focusing on international trade, investment, and economic development.

Ms. Collins serves as General Counsel to Irvine Ranch Water District.
